

Fair voting means a new type of politics and Parliaments that work for all of us.

A fair voting system, based on proportional representation, means:

- every voter has an equal voice and every vote really matters
- election results will be fair and the party or parties in power will actually represent the majority
- Parliament will better represent all of us: women, men, young, old, rural, urban, right, left
- governments are more accountable to the majority, particularly on the most urgent issues of the day (e.g., environment, energy, taxes, etc.).
